DETAILED ACTION

1. Amendment and response filed by applicants dated Jun. 17, 2011 have been entered and considered carefully.

Claims 5-23, 57-107 have been canceled.

Claims 1-4, 24-56, newly added 108-118 are pending.

2. The rejection of claims 27-29, 32-34, 38-40, 43-45, 49-51, 54-56 under 35 U.S.C. 112 second paragraph for the limitation "halophenyl" or "3-chlorophenyl" for moiety R3 lacking sufficient antecedent basis in the base claim is maintained. Even though applicants can be his/her own lexicographer, the term "aryl" without substitution cannot encompass halophenyl. Please note that the description for aryl did not include substituted phenyl, and the term halophenyl is not "aryl" but a substituted aryl. Nowhere in the specification the concept of a substituted aryl is inclusive in the term aryl and no description of what is this scope.

3. The rejection of claims 1-4, 24-29, 32, 35-40, 43, 46-51, 54, 108-113, 116 under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Aquila et al. US 7,517,892 (cited on 892 dated 7/16/10) is maintained for reason of record.

Please note that in the previous office action it was clearly established that US 7,517,892 qualified as a 102(e) date reference because the effective filing date is Sept. 11, 2000 wherein the generic description supported by examples 41-42 were disclosed.

Aquila et al. '892 disclosed examples 41-42 which has the structure:

The exemplified species corresponding to the generic disclosure when R3 is H, R4 is cycloalkyl, R5, R6 forms a CO (see col. 12-13 formula A)

Art Unit: 1625

Generically, the R3 moiety is optionally aryl (col. 13, lines 6-7), and R4, R5, R6 can all be H or alkyl (coll. 13, lines 10-15). Therefore, based on the alternative optional of the Markush elements, the above species is tantamount to the compound:

which is the instantly claimed compounds. The picking and choosing of alternative choices among many is prima facie obvious in absence of unexpected results. In re Lemin 141 USPQ 814.

The gist of applicants argument is that the many examples of the Aquila reference does not teach the one methylene insertion between S and the phenyl ring, or the C=O on the 1-piperidine being an alkylene linker.

Applicants argued that the generic formula A disclosed on col. 12-13 does not teach any methylene insertion between Z and R1. This is erroneous because it is noted that R1 is phenyl or aralkyl i.e. benzyl. In other words, the methylene was described in the R1 moiety. In addition applicants attention is drawn to col. 103, compound 106 which is therefore, not only the methylene insertion was generically described but also explicitly exemplified.

Applicants also argued that CR5R6 is C=O which has not been taught to be optionally an alkylene. Please note that the R2 moiety of the instant claims is (CO)R5 which corresponding to the above compound 41. The instant R2 is also alkyl which includes cycloalkyl (see specification p.6, line 23). Aquila '892, col. 210, compound 188 provided the alternative choice of CR5R6 being alkyl:

The clear teaching in one reference with explicit exemplification and generic guidelines established the prima facie obviousness of the previous office action. Applicants arguments are contrary to the prior art teaching as pointed out in pages and lines of the references. The reason of modifying one proven compound with attributes of other proven compounds guided by the generic teaching has been clearly established according to Takeda v Alphapharm recited by applicants.

4. Claims 30-31, 33-34, 41-42, 44-45, 52, 55-56, 114-115, 117-118 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

The subject matter wherein R4 is CON(R<sup>6</sup>)<sub>2</sub> is not anticipated nor rendered obvious by the art of record.

5. THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
